Pentecost- Foreknowledge and Freedom Don Hatch

Set forth in the Bible is the foreknowledge of God and the freedom of man. In accordance to God's plan Christ was to die for the sins of the world (Acts 2:23; Isa 53; Luke 24:44-47). Those who crucified Jesus had no thought of fulfilling the plan of God. They undertook to rid themselves of a pestilent man whom they envied (Matt 27:18). They were held responsible for their actions. Thus we see the foreknowledge of God and the freedom of man. God's foreknowledge does not rule out freedom and freedom does not rule out, nor make impossible, the foreknowledge of God.

God can foreknow the future without forcing man. Prophecies prove the ability of God to foreknow the future. Abraham was to be the father of many nations (Gen 12: 22; Rom 4:17). God spoke of these as if they existed. They did not exist for a thousand years. God foretold of the life, death, burial, resurrection and ascension of Jesus Christ. God foretold of a new covenant (Jer 31:31-34; Heb 8:8-13). Willfully much of mankind has not complied with this New Covenant. Prophecies and express statements in the Bible establish the facts of God's foreknowledge.

Man's freedom is not unlimited, yet it is still freedom. Freedom can be abused until gradually freedom is relinquished. Abuses of freedom lead to the slavery of vice. Using freedom correctly leads to additional freedom. Men hold others answerable for actions which imply accountability and freedom. Praise or blame for deeds performed demonstrates freedom. None can live a life of freedom and not have to deal with the lives of others. Will, aspirations, personality and other variables identify the idea of the freedom of man. Peter regarded those on the day of Pentecost (33AD) as being responsible for their actions (Acts 2:23-26). Individuals believe there is an underlying principle of freedom for all. Even the Atheist will hold himself responsible for things done wrong. No one considers himself, in the totality of his action, a creature without a will pushed by a force over which he has no control or ability to refuse. Individuals on Pentecost viewed themselves responsible for their actions when they asked, "What shall we do?" This implies that they wanted to rescind what they had done and make it right. "You cannot hold me responsible" is hardly a verdict they passed on their action. Man is a rational being with ability to make decisions and implies freedom. Everyone, sooner or later, admits "I ought to do or to have done this or that". Hence right and wrong are expressed. God is willing that man be saved. Those who refuse to be saved are held accountable for their own actions (1 Tim 2:3-4; 2 Pet 3:7-9; Jn 7:17; Matt 23:37; Jn 5:40).

The harmony of God's foreknowledge and man's free-will cannot be denied. We can rest assured that God in His divine sovereignty can reconcile them. We measure God by finite standards, whereas the solution of free-will and foreknowledge of God is seen in the omniscience (all knowing) of God. To foreknow does not stipulate that it will happen. Divine foreknowledge does not work in the same manner as human aspiration. The whole span of time and world history is seen by God. God sees the future and the past; they are spread before Him as an eternal NOW. He can use the free-will of an individual. His knowledge of choices does not make a foreordained choice. He knows individuals will act without forcing them to act. Through this foreseeing, God's power and wisdom are mingled with the plans of free men in a providential manner. By sending prophets. His Son and through the church He affects results which are not intended nor foreseen by men. These results do not take away free-will and freedom of choice. The power of choice does not make the wrong choice right! Many believe that the right to choose is more important than the right choice. This is a dangerous kind of thinking because it implies that any choice is acceptable when it meets the need of personal choice. If there was no wrong then man would not need grace and mercy. It was God's intentional plan to bring grace and truth through Jesus Christ (Jn 1:17). In the area of God's foreknowledge and man's free-will we see grace and obedience blended together.

With such a freedom of choice one needs to choose well. One's choices will determine where one will spend eternity. God foreordained salvation, He will not force. Mankind establishes the outcome. There is a triad of words which comprise the fuller knowledge and actions of God in the matter of predestination. They are predestination, election and foreknowledge. Within these words God sets forth the manner in which He enlightened the believers. Because of God's omniscience He knows all things. He knows the end from the beginning,

FAMILY CARE A Message from Our Shepherds

We have all asked the question or heard the question "What must I do to be saved?" How did you answer that? For the next four weeks I would like to go over some very important facts about this question.

In Acts 16:30-33 we find a very familiar passage... "And he brought them out and said, "Sirs, what must I do to be saved?" <sup>31</sup> So they said, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and you will be saved, you and your household." <sup>32</sup> Then they spoke the word of the Lord to him and to all who were in his house. <sup>33</sup> And he took them the same hour of the night and washed their stripes. And immediately he and all his family were baptized." In this passage we see Paul is confronted by the Philippian jailor who asked the most important question, "Sirs, what must I do to be saved?"

Yes indeed this is a most important question a person could ever ask. Salvation from sin is our greatest need - cf. Rom. 6:23 "For the wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord." What we must realize is that the answer must be according to the Word of God. The answer given is often limited to what is mentioned in Acts 16:31 without consideration of all that is said in the context and without noting what is taught elsewhere in the Scriptures.

If one asks "What Must I Do To Be Saved?" how should we reply? Shall we limit our response to the words of verse 31? In the next few weeks will identify the following: What is not mentioned, what is mentioned, and address some objections about our study.

I pray that everyone will have a great week and see you in Bible class and Worship.

Jerry McKey

"Jehovah, who shall sojourn in thy tabernacle? Who shall dwell in thy holy hill? He that walketh uprightly, and worketh righteousness, And speaketh truth in his heart; He that slandereth not with his tongue, Nor doeth evil to his friend, Nor taketh up a reproach against his neighbor; In whose eyes a reprobate is despised, But who honoreth them that fear Jehovah; He that sweareth to his own hurt, and changeth not; He that putteth not out his money to interest, Nor taketh reward against the innocent. He that doeth these things shall never be moved" (Psm 15:1-5).

...Father (Acts 2:33-37).

The kingdom was future while Jesus was on earth (Mattm6:5-15). Jesus' blood was the price for the church (Acts 20:28). By this blood he dedicated a new covenant which would save all mankind (Heb 9:17-21). Peace and a Mediatorship came because of the blood (Col 1:20; Eph 2:13-16; 1 Tim 2:4-6; Heb 9:14, 15). After offering His blood Jesus sat down at the right hand of God the Father (Acts 2:33-36). Hence there was a new covenant. This covenant established the Kingdom and church of Christ on Pentecost. A fact remains that the Scriptures teach a present union of divine sovereignty and human responsibility (Jn 6:34-40). Don Hatch

Pentecost- Kingdom

The Lord had sworn with an oath to David that the fruit of his loins would sit upon his throne. It is of the utmost importance for one to understand if there is a church of Christ there is also a kingdom of Christ (Col 1:13; Rev 1:6-9; Eph 1:20-22; Rom 16:16). Peter clearly established that the kingdom had been promised and Jesus' resurrection from the dead was part of their witness and proof that Jesus was King of Kings and Lord of Lords (Rev 19:16). It is obvious that the kingdom mentioned was not physical Israel, rather a spiritual Israel (Gal 6:16).

The kingdom was to include both Jews and Gentiles. The church was to include Jews and Gentiles (Rom 10:16-21). The same subjects are in both the kingdom and the church at the same time. The New Covenant which was established by the blood of Jesus is partaken of by Jews and Gentiles (1 Cor 11:17-34; Heb 8:18-13). This covenant removed ethnic barriers and made all one in Christ Jesus (Eph 2:11-23; Gal 3:23-29). Jesus Christ was given all power in heaven and on earth (Matt 28:18-20). What greater power would He have if He came back to earth and ruled in Jerusalem? Did Jesus promise those living in the first century that the kingdom would come with power in their lifetime (Mk 9:1)? Either Jesus failed, which I don't believe, or there are some Jews walking around who are nearly 2000 years old, or the kingdom came with power and shall never be shaken (Heb 12:18-29).

To speak of the New Testament Church in prophecy is to speak of the kingdom of God's dear Son (Col 1:18). Church and Kingdom are simply two ways of speaking of the same body of people. The church indicates the "body" and the kingdom indicates a king. In both circumstances it indicates Christ's authority over the same group of people who have been saved by His blood. The church or kingdom shows a relationship between the Messiah and His people.

Jesus fulfilled all the Law, Prophets and Psalms concerning Himself (Lk 24:44-49). Nothing but complete success could satisfy the Scriptures demands. If Jesus was taken back to glory (Jn 17) it must be true that He is now King of Kings, Lord of Lords (Rev 19:16).

The church and kingdom have the same ruler (Eph 5:23; 1 Tim 6:15; Heb 1:3; Acts 2:34-36; Eph 1:19-23), the same owner (Mat 16;18-20; Jn 18:36; Col 1:13; Rev 1:6-9), the same date on which they began (Isa 2:1; Acts 2:16,17), the same law ( Isa 2:2; Acts 2; Heb 8:8-13), same terms for admission (Jn 3:5; Acts 2:38; Gal 3:23-28; Tit 3:5,6), the same individuals are found in both (Col 1:2, 13), they have the same covenant (Heb 8:8-13; 10:15-17), they have the same memorial (1 Cor 11:17-39; Matt 26;29), the same glory (Isa 2:1,2; Eph 3:21) and the same place of origin (Acts 2; Isa 2:1; Joel 2:28-31).

Some may say that it doesn't say, Jesus is head over the Kingdom, or King over the church, King over the flock, or Head over the branches. When we speak we must use the appropriate terms for each figure used to describe Jesus' role. When we speak of Christ as head over the church it addresses His relationship to that figure of speech. When we speak of His people being in a Kingdom it expresses His appropriate relationship to them as a King. The authority is expressed in both terms as head and king. The head has authority over the body (Eph 1:22, 23). The King has authority over the kingdom (Rev 1:6-10; Col 1:13). The same people are in them and different figures explain their relationship to the Lord Jesus Christ.

Jesus fulfilled the prophecies about Him becoming a High Priest and Prophet. Jesus is a High Priest (Hebrews 3:1; 7:1-28), He is the Prophet (Deut 18:15-19; Acts 3:22-26). It must follow that He is also the King and currently rules from the right hand of the...
